EXPERIENCE SHOWS

"EXPERIENCE shows that the public does not relish the attempt to prevent it from getting access to the facts regarding any branch of the Government which undertakes to represent its interests" says the New York Journal of Commerce, which, being a strenuous free trade paper, is upset because the damper was put on certain foreign ambassadors who were violating diplomatic courtesy by propagandizing against the pending tariff bill. And experience has also shown that the American people deeply resent attempts on the part of foreign governments, through their representatives, to tell us how to conduct our own affairs. It may suit the Journal of Commerce, which is an internationalistic paper, to call in foreign ambassadors to help the cause of free trade, but it doesn't suit us, and it didn't suit the Administration. And the Administration is running the Government, while papers like the Journal are doing all they can to handicap the running.

IMPORT BUNK

A NEW YORK CITY paper gives some weird tariff reasoning. It finds our consumption of potatoes is one million bushels daily and that we raise as high as 400,000,000 bushels annually, and it condemns the duty of 35 cents a bushel (58 cents a hundred pounds) approved by the Senate Committee on Finance, saying: "On a million bushels of potatoes consumed a day 35 cents a bushel runs up to a neat total of $350,000" or $127,750,000 annually as a tariff charge on the American people. This assumes that the price on every bushel of potatoes will be controlled and that the controllers will add the tariff. But even with foreign competition kept out there will be domestic competition. We recall a time when with a duty of 25 cents a bushel on potatoes. they were selling for as low as 6 cents a bushel at point of shipment. Evidently the 25 cents was not added.

LEVY COURT MAKES CHANGES

Levy Court Tuesday afternoon directed its clerk to advertise for bids for one of the county's automobiles, a Willeys Six, and adopted a resolution relative to the expense of operating nine others. The court's action is expected to effect a saving of approximately $10,000 in this item to the county.

The resolution directs that the members of the court shall adhere strictly to the automobile appropriations as set forth in the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1922, and ending June 30, 1923. The amounts set up for the several districts are as follows: No. 1, $300; No. 2, none; No. 3, $350; No. 4, $500; No. 5, $500; No. 6, $450; No. 7, $400; total, $2400.

COURTMEN MUST PAY EXPENSES

If the automobile expense in any district should fall below the amount alleged, the resolution reads, the surplus shall revert to the credit of the aforesaid district as an unappropriated fund; but should the automobile expense of any district exceed the amount set aside for that purpose, the excess shall be paid by the commissioner from that district out of his own resources.

The resolution requires that the county engineer's office be limited to the use of three automobiles, the same to be used strictly for county purposes. If the automobile expense for the said office should fall below the amount set aside for that purpose in the budget for the fiscal year, which is $1500, the surplus shall be treated as part of the county's funds. But should it be found necessary to exceed that amount the same must be done with the consent of a majority of the members of the Levy Court.

CHANGE ROAD WORK BASIS

The court adopted another resolution changing the basisfor paying employees on road work, to the effect that the scale of wages for the working forces on the dirt and stone roads be changed from a day basis to an hour basis, and that employes be paid only for the actual time they are employed at work. The schedule is as follows: Supervisor, 50 cents per hour; labor, 30 cents; two-horse team without driver, 40 cents; two-horse team with driver, 70 cents; drag team with driver, 45 cents; traction engine, $1.50; 1½-ton truck, $1.25; 2-ton truck, $2; 5-ton truck, $2.50.

Ban on Delaware Apples

According to W. T. Derrickson of Dover, head of the Division of Markets in Delaware, farmers of this State stand to lose thousands of dollars on their apple crop this year unless some way is found at once to prevent the shipment to outside markets of ungraded, spected and sometimes rotten fruit that has fallen from the trees. The apple market has been so demoralized, he says, by this shipping of spoiled apples that the New York health authorities have placed a ban against receiving just at present any apple shipments coming from Delaware.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent. of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars.

VARIED STYLES FOR YOUNG; CORRECT RIDING HABIT

FIFTY-SEVEN varieties might include all the vagaries in the styles for little folks, but it is doubtful. There is nothing so amusing as these little people just emerging from babyhood, and the thought of them seems to inspire designers of their clothes, with amusing ideas. At any rate they indulge in many pretty vagaries when their fancies hover about clothes for small tots and children under ten.

In clothes for play they remember to be practical and make suits consisting of smock and straight trousers for the little girls, choosing gingham, cotton crepe, romper cloth, heavy linen, and the like, in the materials. They are developed in endless ways, long or short sleeves, and simply made. The picture-book decorations have been partly replaced by very simple cross-stitch embroidery or other simple stitchery and many of them have white collars and cuffs.

For tiny boys from two years up to six, there are short trousers of drill in many colors or of other heavy fabrics, and blouses of madras, gingham and other cottons, in contrasting colors, are worn with them. Feather silk broadcloth, in sand color, and carries a gay striped parasol.

Here is a snappy riding suit for summer time, which concerns itself first with being comfortable. But American women insist upon style as well as comfort in all their togs for out-dooring. Color helps out in this habit in which the coat is made of tan covert cloth and the breeches of tan and white check.

Blouses and shirts to be worn with habits are all very mannish this season. They include plain, soft affairs of wash silk, with turn-over collars and cuffs, like that one pictured here, which is in keeping with the suit, and a few other styles. These are varied according to the habit they are to be worn with. What may be classed as dressy styles in habits call for shirts with finely plaited bosoms, winged linen collars and smart bow ties. These are found in the company of habits made of smooth-faced black cloth having skirt.

Habits of the same character for cross-saddle riding are made of dark-colored hard-twisted worsteds, often in invisible stripes. A plain blouse, stitching or cross stitching on the blouses gives them a nice finish.

The designer's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of dotted and cross-bar swiss, organdie, batiste, and crepe de chine when party and dress-up frocks are under consideration. Any one of them would serve for the pretty babyish dress and bonnet trimmed with narrow Val lace, which is shown on the little three-year-old girl. Her older sister wears a smart, plain coat of with pique stock, and a light vest are among the details that place these habits above reproach. Black leather boots are worn with both styles and one may choose a sailor hat of black hatters' plush, or a straw sailor.

Flower Hats Are Smart.

Flower hats are popular, as usual, but each season seems to see the all-flower hats offered in greater style variety. At one time only small closely-fitted hats were entirely covered with flowers, while now many with fairly wide brims are seen, and novel tricorne shapes made of flowers are decidedly smart. A tricorne with crown of navy taffeta and brim of wood violets was recently seen, and very effective it was. The soft crushable sport hat and the draped turban are styles much favored for wear with the tailored or sport suits.

Velvet Parasol.

The velvet parasol is very new, very novel and quite liable to achieve a success. It comes in black and brilliant colors with a quaintly carved handle.

For midsummer the fabric hat remains supreme. Canton crepe figures in an important way in these summer models.

NEW FALL COLORS

Red, Brown, Orange, Reddish Purple Will Be Favored.

Eighty Colors, Sixty-six Portrayed in Silk and Twelve in Woolen Fabrics, on the Card.

When autumn comes the fashionable woman will garb herself in colors that are synonymous with the season. Reds, browns and orange, purples of a reddish tint, like a late autumn sunset, and similar shades will be favored for fall wear.

Eighty colors, sixty-six of which are portrayed in silk and twelve in woolen fabrics, are on the new color card released by the Textile Color Card Association of the United States.

The oriental and Russian influences are noticeable in the new colors. For evening wear neither black nor the pastel shades so long popular will be in vogue. Instead reds, blues and orange and the mysterious reddish purple have been chosen.

Periwinkle and cornflower blue from the spring card are shown again. Among the woolens a shade of tan called pigskin is shown. A new red called Akkar is introduced. Shoe and hosiery colors are silver, mist and pigeon grays and fawns, otter and mouse shades and brown.

A new note in autumn fashions will be street costumes of colored cloth, according to a Chicago designer and importer.

"Costumes of colored broadcloth, fine cashmere or of materials that are combinations of silk and wool will be worn next fall," she said. "Cloth costumes have heretofore been of dark colors usually or of very conservative shades of tan, brown or blue. Much gayer colors will be used. Three-piece costumes will be featured and velvets in bright colors will be in demand. It will be a distinctly new fashion note."

Costume jewelry, novelty earrings, belts, necklaces and pins will continue to be popular. Color will reign, just as black reigned for a long time as the fashionable toilette color.

LACE FEATURE OF THIS GOWN

The vogue for lace is distinctively expressed in this lovely gown. The orchid and violet tone of the hat match the girdle, which might have been borrowed from the Orient.

THE GENERAL UTILITY SUIT

For general utility nothing is more popular than the tweed suit. The feature of this interesting outfit is the one-button effect.

EDGINGS ADD TO THE FROCK

Organdie Embroidered in Vivid Peasant Colorings and Design Beautifies Milady's Outfit.

It is seldom that we have anything really new and unusual in the way of embroidered edgings, but recently designers have gone after the Czechoslovakian idea of coloring with a vengeance. Organdie edgings embroidered in vivid peasant colorings and in peasant design will add materially to the summer frock and to the collar and cuff sets for the smart tailleur. Often there is stripe after stripe of different colors cross-stitched upon the white organdie.

The little colored kerchief with the drawn threads and embroidered rosebuds was a fad women copied easily. Now the latest handkerchiefs have all sorts of motifs worked in their corners: Chinese figures, cameo designs, black cats howling on a back-yard fence with a huge orange moon in the background.

Wearing a veil over the face is a peculiar custom. In some countries it is a religious rite, in others it is forced upon women with marriage and in the civilized world women have adopted the idea because they think it keeps a coif smooth and hides little age wrinkles. The chiffon veil is seen at the seashore where it really serves a purpose to ward off the strong sun rays and the wind, and promises protection throughout the season.

White bead chains are more in demand than the vivid jades, ambers and red glass affairs of the winter. White jade and old ivory are considered among the smartest of these.

Purses and handbags grow smaller. Gold mesh bags and gold vanities are smart accessories of the all-white costume.

Fancies in Fans.

Fans, which are sponsored this season in all shapes and sizes, are quaint or striking, according to their whim. Soft, single-feather ostrich fans are lovely with slim dance frocks, while small black-lace fans add a touch of quaintness to the frock of bouffant silhouette.

Stylish Colors.

Millinery colors are strong. Reds are still good; the ruddy rusts and hennas are popular and jade is regaining favor.

USE LACE AND NET FOR DRESSES

Combination Affords Dainty Party Frocks for the Little Girls Two to Six.

An exceptionally dainty party dress for a little girl of two to six years was fashioned of the fine cream colored net. There was a straight yoke, really merely two rather wide bands of the net, embroidered and held on the shoulders with bows of ribbon, and a straight skirt of net with embroidered band at its edge was gathered on to this yoke. The underslip of taffeta matched the ribbon bows on the shoulders.

Another little girl ready for a party was frocked in pale pink taffeta with overdress of white georgette. The taffeta foundation is banded in three rows of transparent silver braid or silver ribbon, and the little overdress, cut in scallops all around the bottom, is edged with a narrow double ruffle of self fabric, the same finish being applied to the sleeves. Tiny knots of French flowers add the final trimming touch. This dress opens a few inches in the back, so it may be slipped over the head, a little knot of flowers being caught at the fastening.

Most of these little party frocks are designed to be worn over lacy undergarments instead of with bloomers, the bloomers being usually featured only with the more practical garments.

Very sheer net and fine soft lace were combined to fashion a charming party dress for the tiny girl's older sister in her teens, a ribbon sash supplying the finishing touch. The little sleeveless bodice is a succession of lace ruffles placed close together, one above another, over a net foundation. The skirt is a sort of petal affair, each petal or point being lace ruffled. A plain net foundation serves as an immediate background. A silk slip in white or any of the pastel shades may be worn under the frock, of course, and the sash may either carry out this color tone or a black sash may be worn if preferred.

ARRAY OF CHECKED FLANNELS

Material Developed Into Lovely Outfits Plays Important Part in Juvenile Apparel.

The greatest array imaginable of checked flannels is in evidence at the present time, and some lovely outfits are being developed from these materials. They even play a part in juvenile apparel, cunning little smock and bloomer costumes for little girls showing the combination of checked and plain flannel, the checked sometimes being used for the smock and again for the bloomers.

Knitted outer garments are unusually smart and varied this season, many costumes of the cape and sleeveless dress type being shown, while slipover sweaters with skirts to match are displayed in generous numbers. A particularly interesting and practical costume of the skirt and slip-over sweater type featured a two-tone line plaid, the practical feature being that a narrow braid matching the color of the knitted-in plaid was stitched on the skirt at intervals its entire width and length, the idea being to prevent the stretching of the garment when it is worn.

In Cameo Effect.

Embroidered silks in cameo effect include full-length figures in their charming silhouette designs. One manufacturer has combined this material with block lace to form a very quaint and new summer frock.

Gray and Mauve.

As evening gowns go into colors, one finds that one of the newest and most interesting combinations is that of gray lace over mauve gros de londres. If a gown of this sort is sashed, velvet ribbons in fuchsia would be beautiful.

Linen Damask.

Irish linen damask is employed in the fashioning of summer frocks. The pattern is outlined with colored stitching.

MORE GOOD THINGS

A nice dish for breakfast and worth trying is ripe, sliced tomatoes, served with sugar and cream.

Another good breakfast dish is hot tomatoes poured over two or three beaten eggs; stir and cook until the eggs are cooked, season with butter, pepper and salt. Serve on or with toast.

Cheese Potatoes.—Take one quart of sliced potatoes, one-fourth of a cupful of cheese, one cupful of milk and two tablespoonfuls of flour. Parboil the potatoes two minutes, then arrange the potatoes and cheese in a well-greased baking dish with a light layer of flour sprinkled over each layer. When the dish is full cover with milk to which any desired seasoning has been added. Bake one-half hour.

Hashed Browned Codfish.—Take one tablespoonful each of flour and butter, three-fourths of a cupful of milk, one tablespoonful of parsley, a dash of pepper, one-half cupful of flaked codfish and two cupfuls of cold, chopped boiled potatoes. Make a sauce of the butter, flour, milk and pepper. Stir in the fish (which should be previously freshened) and add the potatoes. Turn into a hot spider containing a tablespoonful of fat; press in the mixture, cover and set in the oven to bake until a rich crust is formed. Serve accompanied with bacon curls.

Frozen Apples.—Use the pulp from stewed or baked apple or a glass of apple jelly; partly freeze, then stir in some sweetened and flavored whipped cream. Pack the freezer and leave until the contents are firm.

Parker House Rolls.—Roll out the mixture until one-half inch thick, cut with a biscuit cutter into rounds, butter one-half and fold over. Place in pans to rise. When very light bake in a moderate oven.

Fruit Meringue.—Heat the halves of canned fruit with a bit of lemon peel or candied ginger in the centers; cool and place on each a tablespoonful of meringue. Use the whites of two eggs and one-third of a cupful of sugar for the meringue.

Date Surprise Cookies.—Stone dates and stuff with whole almonds blanched. Roll out the cookie mixture very thin, cut in rounds and place a stuffed date in the center; sprinkle with sugar and lemon rind mixed; fold over the cookie and pinch the edges together. Bake in a hot oven.

Just whistle a bit if the day is dark,
And the sky be overcast;
If mute be the voice of the piping lark,
Why, pipe your own small blast.

WHAT TO EAT

There are so many delectable dishes that may be made with a can of corn—for example corn soup. Cook the corn in a little milk and strain it, turn it back again into more milk and strain again, then thicken with a little flour and butter cooked together, a little onion juice and season with salt and pepper. Fried corn is best of course prepared from the fresh corn, but a very good dish may be made from the canned corn. Corn in the omelet, corn fritters, corn baked alone as an escalloped dish or combined with fresh mushrooms, adding seasoning and a bit of onion.

Veal Soup.—Take a two pound knuckle of veal, cover with cold water and cook slowly until the meat falls from the bones, remove the bones. There should be five cupfuls, add two cupfuls of diced potatoes, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of mushroom ketchup added with the meat cut in cubes, after the potatoes are tender. Season well with salt and pepper. Pour over one cooked egg which has been diced and chopped and lay thinly sliced lemon on top or add the juice if preferred.

Potato Pancakes.—Fill a cup with grated raw potato, add one-half teaspoonful of salt, two well beaten eggs, and one-half cupful of flour. Beat thoroughly and cook on a hot griddle. One small grated onion may be added if the seasoning is liked.

Buttered Potatoes.—Peel one dozen small even sized potatoes and one-half dozen onions, put them with four tablespoonfuls of fat, salt, and pepper to season, in a casserole and bake gently until tender.

Scotch Casseroled Apples.—Select medium sized apples, cut in halves and lay in a casserole. Pour into the dish one cupful of hot water, sprinkle over one cupful of light brown sugar, a bit of salt, one-half teaspoonful of cinnamon and one-quarter teaspoonful of cloves. The sugar and spices mixed will be better. Just before placing in the oven turn into the dish the juice of a lemon and one tablespoonful of butter. Bake in a moderate oven for half an hour. Remove and increase the heat for fifteen minutes longer.

Haggling Habits.

This story is told of a tightwad who was prevailed upon one Sunday morning by his wife to go to church. Not only was he very busily reading the program of the service when the collection basket was passed, but when the minister announced that the congregation would all join in singing three stanzas of Old Hundred the man arose from his seat and from force of habit asked the minister if he wouldn't make it the Ninety and Nine. His wife hasn't urged him to go to church with her since.—Columbus Dispatch.

Misunderstanding.

A man from the backwoods of western America visited New York for the first time and went into a restaurant to have dinner. All went well until the waiter brought him a napkin. The eyes of the backwoods man flamed, and pulling a six-shooter from his pocket he gave the waiter a piece of his mind.

"You take that blamed thing away at once," he said evenly. "I reckon I have a handkerchief if I want one, without having them darned hints thrown out."

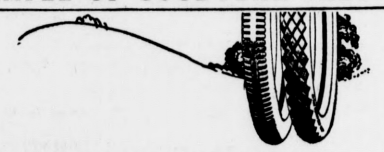
AN EXAMPLE OF GOODYEAR VALUE



The 30 x 3½ Goodyear Cross Rib Tire shown here alongside its companion, the 30 x 3½ Goodyear All-Weather Tread Clincher, is a conspicuous example of Goodyear value.

The Goodyear Cross Rib has in it the same high grade Egyptian cotton fabric that goes into the All-Weather Tread Goodyear.

It has a differently designed but long-wearing tread, and it sells for considerably less money.

In the past five years more than 5,000,000 of these Goodyear Cross Rib Tires have been sold.

They have everywhere given remarkable service.

Their fine performance and known value have convinced thousands of motorists of the folly of buying unknown and unguaranteed tires of lower price.

Blackberries jumped from $4, the prevailing price, Saturday, to $6 per 32-quart crate three days later at the Townsend Station, but owing to the scarcity of pickers in lower New Castle county the farmers were handicapped in getting the berries picked. As a result of the scarcity of pickers, several farmers have jumped the price for picking from three cents to four cents per quart. With good weather the last week raspberries are appearing on the vines in great numbers. Up until then the berries were slow to ripen and of smaller size than they usually are.

A battle between a cat and a snake about 12 inches long created no little interest among residents of the West side, who reside on Railroad avenue, on Saturday afternoon. The fight took place on the sidewalk near a store and was witnessed by a half a dozen persons. It lasted out two or three minutes, the cat finally biting the snake, which was of the viper variety. After having been driven back several times, the bite of tabby soon proved fatal to the reptile. When the snake came out of some grass the cat saw it some distance away and made the attack.

How did your neighbor's last bargain tire turn out

PROBABLY you know at least one car-owner who is always on the look-out for the cheapest tires he can find. He likes to get them by mail or at a sale or at some place where they have big red bargain signs over the door.

It would be fine if he could get "the edge" in every tire trade.

But the dealer can't afford to let him have it.

Even if a man saw any slight percentage in tire shopping at all—it disappeared when the "Usco" brought the price down.

A standard product—and the dealer sells it with pride.

A good tire. The dealer has no desire to trade you into a larger profit for himself.

United States Tires are Good Tires

Copyright 1922 U. S. Tire Co.

An out-in-the-open tire. The dealer sells you confidence, not price. He wants you satisfied with performance and value. The only way he knows to get your business is to deserve it.

This is the "Usco" idea.

Compared with the ten-minute thrill of the bargain appeal, the "Usco" is just plain commonsense.
